

Cultural diversity

The first week of September saw Multicultural Week kick off across Swinburne TAFE campuses. In Wantirna the week celebrating cultural diversity attracted 200 students who enjoyed a free lunch of fried rice, spring rolls and African tea from the Rooibus plant along with the infectious beats of The Tumaba Rumaba drummers (pictured). In Hawthorn the focus was on European cultures with entertainment provided by a Greek Bouzouki Band and Greek dancers.

Laughing it up

At the Victorian College of the Arts comedy was on offer in a season dubbed, Give 'Em Enough Rope. Featured was a radical interpretation of Moliere's Imaginary Invalid. Pictured Anne-Louise Sarks and Gerard Lane from VCA Drama Company 2007.

Muddy art

Melbourne University's MUD Fest 10 served up a stack of contemporary student theatre and visual art spread of over 10 fabulous days. A highlight was the Live Clips season. Pictured: Alice Dixon, Natalie Abbott and Daniel Newell in a Live Clip piece called Love Sick.
