

Experience the music

The second Point Nepean A Music Experience will be held over the Easter Weekend at the historical and heritage listed site of the Point Nepean Quarantine Station. This picturesque and beautiful location on Port Phillip Bay will continue to host an extraordinary line-up of international and Australian music performers.

Leading the pack is one of Australia's hottest rock bands Eskimo Joe (pictured). Formed in Fremantle, Australia back in 1997, they're no stranger to the ARIA Album Charts or Triple J's Hottest 100 list. Their debut album Girl went gold in 2001 and since then Eskimo Joe has continued to grab attention from critics and 'girls' alike. Their 3rd album, Black Fingernails, Red Wine, released in 2006 has earned them multi platinum status. So what they paint their fingernails black? They also rock extra hard, and we all get to rock along with them.

Classic rock legend John Fogerty will also be there – the acclaimed lead singer/songwriter and guitarist of music super group, Creedence Clearwater Revival and Australia's own international musical force, Keith Urban. These two great performers will be joined by Sinead O'Connor, one of pop music's most distinctive and controversial stars; KT Tunstall with her beautiful Scottish soulful tone and the most popular pianist and bandleader in the United Kingdom Jools Holland with his Rhythm & Blues Orchestra.

Add to that stellar line-up the amazing Patty Griffin - one of today's most significant songwriters; the raw sound of Australia's own multi-instrumentalist Xavier Rudd; Rodrigo y Gabriela – renowned musical duo specialising in playing fast, rhythmic acoustic guitars. Soul and Gospel legend Mavis Staples, authentic blues performers Charlie Musselwhite and John Hammond, bohemian enigmatic blues artist Seasick Steve and multiple ARIA nominee Lior, are featured also.

With a daily limited capacity of 9000 people the festival is sure to sell out quickly.
