

Global volunteering

Taking time out during tertiary studies can be the perfect antidote to burn-out and study fatigue, and may even be an opportunity to build your CV and impress future employers.

Lattitude continues to support international volunteering for 17- to 25-year-olds. They offer projects that allow you to develop new skills, discover strengths and become part of a local community.

Whether its conservation work in Brazil or working in homeless shelters in Ireland there is something for everyone.

So if you would like to leave your mark on a community abroad, Lattitude could be for you!!

Europe by train

Travelling to Europe for Australian students has always been considered a rite of passage. The scene in Europe is electric where youths from all over the world cross paths during their travels.

The other part of travelling around Europe which is synonymous for Australian students is travelling by train. The beauty about travelling on a rail pass is a rail day runs from midnight to midnight and you are not restricted to one journey for the day so you can do as many trips as you like.

Therefore a rail pass is great value for money as you might purchase a 15 day pass and end up doing 30 rail journeys taking you right across Europe.

To buy a rail pass and find out more about travelling in Europe by train please visit www.youthrail.com.au specifically developed for student/youth travel.

Be an aupair in Europe

JCR Intercultural Programs is dedicated to providing young people aged between 18-30 with the opportunity to go overseas as Aupairs and Nannies to 19 countries including the USA, UK, Canada, South Africa and much of Europe. JCR provides full back up and support from their long time associates who speak English and the language of the country. All programs are legal, safe and secure.

JCR takes a personal interest in every applicant. We are proud of our JCR girls and they enjoy an enviable reputation so that they are always in demand by families.

More information at www.jcraus.com.au or phone 9557 0300.

Work and Play

Earn money in the USA and gain international work experiences while you ski the snowy slopes of the Rockies, conserve nature's treasures and make friends from all around the world.

WEP Volunteer Abroad offers university students a choice of four to 12 months work and travel placements in the USA, working in conservation, hospitality and retail as well as internships in marketing, engineering, architecture, IT and business management.

Whether you want to go during your summer holidays or take a break from your studies, WEP Volunteer Abroad will work with you to arrange your own unique travel experience.

The most difficult step of a journey is the first, so call now on 1300 884 733 or visit www.volunteerabroad.com.au.
